I believe that it is fundamental that a person speaks not merely by word but performs their acts by deed. The Josef Korbel School and the broader University of Denver campus should be embarrassed by its inaction and ineptitude in regards to the situation in which I find myself. As a campus that preaches “Prepare for Purpose,” I have faced prejudice and outright oppression. I would like to think that such an institution would fight for the rights of a former student who has had his human rights violated as defined by United Nations international human rights law.

The Nelson Mandela rules were violated by the Jefferson County Sheriff's Jail against me. Further, the Nelson Mandela rules were adopted as state law in Colorado in 2017. This violation of human rights law against me is indisputable and I have extensive and ample evidence to prove the culpability of the law enforcement officers involved.

Law enforcement misconduct against me has escalated to the point of having an officer within the Denver Police District 1 Station threaten false arrest against me for attempting to report her for a crime. This occurred within the station which is heavily recorded as well as having personal video footage of the incident. Such an act by an officer of the law is a violation of the Fourth Amendment of the United States Federal Constitution.

I have appealed to the university in regards to my situation but they have been unresponsive at best. I have experienced complacency, dishonesty, and outright criminal activity by law enforcement throughout this process. The judiciary, which allowed the torture to occur while I was under its supervision and openly protesting during its occurrence, has also chosen inaction up to this point.

These champions of social change and progress are nothing more than cloistered hypocrites who have allowed these offenses to occur in their own back yards. Law enforcement has openly and willfully broken the law against me several times but the university and its staff have not utilized their resources to assist or defend me against this instance of State tyranny.

*To note: I have also filed formal complaints at the local, state, and federal level. As the violation is defined as a crime against humanity by UN international human rights law I have also filed complaint with the International Criminal Court.
